How to use QR Code?

Quick Response Code, or the QR Code, is a special feature of this year's Community Radio Compendium. This is a unique code, somewhat similar to a barcode, that will make your station's profile information dynamic – i.e. QR will help people seeking information on your Community Radio Station get the most updated details and information via the web.

How does one access information encoded in the QR Code?

Once you scan the QR code given in the compendium, it will open the Community Radio Station's micro-site on EK duniya anEK awaaz (www.edaa.in) – which is an audio and content exchange platform for Community Radio Stations. The information provided on the micro-site can be updated by the station from time-to-time. In addition to this, the station's profile will remain available to you on your mobile – just a touch away.

If you have a smartphone, you can use these codes quite easily. All you have to do is download a QR code scanning app from your device's app store, open it and use it to take a picture of the code. It will decode the QR code and then do the action the QR code is asking you to do, i.e. open your station's page on EDAA.

Here is a list of some suggested QR code scanners for each of the major mobile operating systems with direct download links.

- ⦿ Android – Google Goggles, use play store to download
- ⦿ Blackberry – Free QR Code Scanner Pro
- ⦿ iOS (iPhone/iPad/iPod Touch) – Google Goggles available on iTunes
- ⦿ Windows Phone – QR Code Reader
- ⦿ MeeGo – MeeScan
- ⦿ Symbian – BeeTag, use Ovi Store to download

Once you have downloaded the app, simply open it on your phone which should come up with a scan option. You will get an image, as if you were seeing it through your mobile's camera. All you need to do is to simply aim at a QR Code and scan. Once scanned, just click on the link that pops up and then browse and share the station's profile!

MESSAGE

I am delighted to note that the fourth edition of the Compendium of Community Radio Stations being brought out as part of the Fourth Annual Community Radio Sammelan 2014 has increased both in its volume and variety, reflecting a healthy growth in the sector. Over a hundred and sixty community radio stations across the country, housed in a variety of community based organisations, NGOs, educational and agricultural institutions share their inspiring stories in this compendium that has become an important repository of information on this important people's medium.

Taking a serious note of the challenges that dog the more than the decade-old sector, the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting has taken several proactive steps to encourage and support it. In the 12th Plan, a new scheme, titled 'Supporting Community Radio Movement in India' at a cost of Rs 100 crore has been approved. A programme management unit has been put in place to administer the fund that will benefit both upcoming and operational community stations by providing grants for setting up infrastructure, technical enhancement and human resource development.

Believing in the important role community radio can play in development through people's participation, the government has also granted in-principle permission to applicants in areas like Chhattisgarh and Jharkhand. Several departments like Health, Panchayati Raj, Women and Child Development among others have evinced their interest in using this medium to reach the last mile. Empanelment of over one-third of the CRS with the Directorate of Advertising and Visual Publicity (DAVP) to receive government advertising is yet another indicator of the importance this alternative medium is gaining. The Community

Radio Policy (guidelines) itself has been incremental in its provisions and is currently striving to make the application process simpler and more streamlined.

Ultimately, a sector can only be as good as its players. Thus, to make the sector robust, transparent and accountable, a mechanism for self regulation has been put in place through an innovative collaborative learning programme of 'Peer Review', where interested stations are being trained and facilitated to conduct self-assessments, visit peers and share and learn from each other, setting themselves on a path of continuous improvement.

India is one of the countries in the sub-continent with a very active and proactive government engagement with the sector. In assuming and discharging this leadership role, equal credit also goes to the stakeholders and practitioners who give their best in building this democratic institution called Community Radio that can give voice to the voiceless and put people's development in their own hands. My sincere appreciation to all stakeholders for putting together this wonderful massive event and wish the deliberations every success.

MESSAGE

The Community Radio movement has completed eleven years since the first station came into existence and it is a proud moment for all the stakeholders that it has gained strength, evolved as a robust third sector and strives to fulfill its mandate of empowering the marginalised people, giving a voice to the voiceless.

The Ministry of Information and Broadcasting has been at the forefront of engagement with the practitioners and stakeholders, through an open dialogue process, aiming to enhance its reach to newer organisations through a continuous awareness programme being conducted across the country. Till now, the Ministry has conducted over 54 consultations bringing experts and decision-makers to demystify the licensing processes and providing a ground-up view of the experiences of functional stations in order to encourage more applications, especially from areas which are still not covered.

In the 12th Five Year Plan, the Ministry has also launched a new scheme of Rs 100 crore spread over the Plan period to provide support and financial assistance for establishment and operational help to new and existing stations. It will, we hope, encourage the movement and provide financial aid to enable many approved agencies to begin their operations.

Community Radio Stations, through their sustained community engagement in programming, planning, management and decision-making are playing a key role in creating an informed community that is knowledgeable about its rights. They are creating platforms to build the capacities of citizens, giving the right to expression, helping to preserve oral dialects and languages, enabling access to knowledge and providing a ground-up connect with the administration and decision-makers in the country. Community radio also acts as a watchdog for ensuring that there is improved accountability and better governance due to the linkages that it creates and bringing grievances to the forefront, acting as an important feedback tool.

It is a continuous endeavor of the Ministry to seek inputs to further the goal of providing an empowering tool in the hands of people. In its fourth edition, the annual National Community Radio Sammelan is growing from strength to strength in providing a platform for experience sharing, discussions on important policy matters, networking and technology convergence possibilities and ways to overcome the challenges that the sector faces. It is also an important point to take stock of the progress made and reviewing the commitments made in the last Sammelan. In this regard, the Compendium of Community Radio Stations has emerged as an important tool documenting the progress made by over 160 functional CR Stations.

I take this opportunity to wish everyone the best for the Sammelan.

In the recent past, we have taken various initiatives to create a conducive environment for the growth of Community Radio Stations in India. Monthly coordination meetings with concerned ministries are regularly held and regular follow-ups also take place. The processing time for CR applications has been brought down significantly and people now can also apply online and track the status of their applications. This has brought about transparency and accountability in the system. A Facilitation Centre has been functioning in the Ministry with a toll-free phone number where people can call up for any information relating to Community Radio.

permissions have been issued to various organisations to set up Community Radio Stations. In order to ensure sustainability of Community Radio Stations, a new Plan Scheme, 'Supporting Community Radio Movement in India', has been introduced in the 12th Plan for which an allocation of Rs 100 crore has been made. This would help to set up about 100 new CRS every year.

Though much has happened in the past, we need to gear up to face challenges from this fast growing medium. I hope this compendium becomes a useful handbook to every CR enthusiast and stakeholder in the country.

FOREWORD

Community Radio: An empowering tool

Supriya Sahu

Joint Secretary, Ministry of Information and Broadcasting, Government of India

We are living in an era of radical transformation, which presents new challenges as well as opportunities for our country. Today there is a constant flow of information, news and various discourses in the public space which influence the way we think about a particular issue. Globalisation is shaping the world economy and new scenarios are being created which have implications for governments, local communities and marginalised groups. New information and communication technologies have created the so-called information and knowledge society.

Various experiments with ICTs are demonstrating that the benefits of the information revolution can have positive repercussions for economic and social development of our country. However, this is also creating a digital divide.

Access to information for vulnerable groups in rural areas in a country like ours is critical. If the poor are on the wrong side of the digital divide, there is every possibility that they would be further marginalised. It is, therefore, essential that we bring in place instruments that would pave the way for empowering community voices. Community Radio is one of the most important mediums of communication which is deeply associated with daily lives of people in India.

Engaging communities in communication would help to bridge the digital divide. It will also go a long way in ensuring the participation of rural and urban communities in decision making so that they can become informed citizens and participate equally in development programmes. If we have to move towards social inclusion and removal of inequality, we have to move towards providing access to information to people and empower communities.

Though we have made a huge progress in several areas in our country, we still face formidable challenges in human development indicators. Poverty, hunger, lack of primary education, gender inequality, high child and maternal mortality cannot be challenged and tackled unless we bring effective partnerships with the local community for social change. It is here that Community Radios become an instrument of positive social change.

The communities in our rural areas hold a wealth of indigenous knowledge and traditional cultural resources, which may be lost with the advent of modern technology. Culture and history also play an important role in the social development of a country, therefore, we need to preserve it. For generations, our communities have been preserving their local culture, knowledge, history and customs. The wealth of songs, stories and folk music in our country could be very well preserved through Community Radios.

The Ministry of Information and Broadcasting has taken a number of initiatives to catapult this sector in the development arena. We have worked closely with Community Radio operators, Community Radio enthusiasts, community media experts, various ministries and departments, UN and other international organisations like UNESCO, UNICEF, Ford Foundation, CEMCA, OneWorld, Community Radio Forum, Community Radio Association and others, to create an enabling environment for the growth for Community Radios in India.

We have made some significant progress in the recent past, wherein more than 160 Community Radios have become operational. This could be achieved by simplifying the approval process for Community Radios, bringing transparency in the approval process, conducting Screening Committee meetings in a mission mode by forging better coordination with various ministries/departments of the Government. We hope to continue our efforts towards the goal of reaching a situation where we issue permissions through a single window clearance mechanism by breaking various barriers in the approval process.

We are working closely with the Ministry of Communications and IT so that various clearances required for Community Radios could be given on time. We certainly need to work towards creating a better frequency allocation plan for Community Radios. We have also streamlined and simplified the empanelment procedure of Community Radios with DAVP. At present, around 40 Community Radios are empanelled with DAVP and various ministries like Health and Family Welfare, Consumer Affairs, Science and Technology, Panchayati Raj, Women and Child Development etc., have already started working with Community Radio Stations. The new Plan Scheme in the 12th Plan, namely 'Strengthening Community Radio Movement in India' will provide financial support to Community Radios to spur their growth. More than 500 new Community Radios can access support from this Plan scheme. We have also initiated several other important initiatives, which include Peer Review of Community Radio Stations, plan for capacity building of Community Radio operators, code of ethics for self-regulation of content by Community Radio Stations etc. We are also working on a New Community Radio Policy. I am sure, very soon we will have a new policy in place, which will be more dynamic and willing to adopt new approaches.

Meanwhile, in a significant shift in policy, the government has given the nod for ten CR stations in Chhattisgarh and Jharkhand. The first station is likely to come up in Bastar in Chhattisgarh. CR stations which have received permission include one each in Ambikapur, Bilaspur, Jagdalpur in Bastar district, Bishrampur in Surjpur district and Bhilainagar and two in Raipur in Chhattisgarh. Two CRs in Jharkhand, including one in Central University, Ranchi, and Manthan Yuva Sangathan have also been given letters of intent.

As we all know, we have completed more than ten years of Community Radio in India. On this occasion, we would like to reiterate our commitment and support to this sector so that it grows from strength to strength. I am sure, together we would be successful in creating an enabling environment to make community radios an important tool of empowerment.

PREFACE

Community Radio: Pictures in letter and spirit

Rajiv Tikoo

Welcome back to this year's community radio compendium. This time it is bigger, brighter and bolder, signifying community radio segment's self-assuredness, making its self-arrival announcement and marking its presence, which cannot be ignored by the larger community.

Titled 'Community Radio for Social Change' in keeping with theme of the 4th National Community Radio Sammelan, the compendium this time is pictorial, saying as much as the individual reader wants to know, lending itself to as many interpretations as the many voices it represents.

Essentially, the mosaic of pictures captures the ethos of the segment's participatory approach, inclusive emphasis, and wide reach, cutting across vast swathes of grassroots communities in their varied moods. And since the pictures have been contributed by the Community Radio Stations themselves, this itself signifies in letter and spirit what the community radio stations are all about.

These are some of the first impressions from the compendium about a small but significant media segment, which is fast emerging from ground up across the country rather than being thrust top down by the government, big corporates or international NGOs. It is young and dynamic in both form and substance and is all set to evolve its own ground rules, particularly on those aspects of operation that lack precedents.

At the same time, the contents of this compendium contain more than they reveal about the segment itself, which is at the cusp of a silent revolution set to sweep the nation by airing and amplifying people's voices and setting the agenda at the local levels at an interesting juncture in the national timeline. The story is set to become interesting as the segment evolves organically, strongly rooted in the local context, and connected enough to mirror the changing national discourses.

Its growth is set to gain further momentum as the stakeholders are now not only talking amongst themselves but also opening up to other constituencies. The Community Radio stakeholders are feeding in the national discourse to make it a sum total of local discourses rather than being a slice of the deconstructed national discourse. This is happening even as people are retaining their respective identities while coming together as the national voice.

The influence of the segment is already capturing the discerning national imagination. Its presence is being increasingly marked on the radar of governments and international NGOs, which have in fact contributed a great deal in its take off. Now not surprisingly corporates too are jumping on to the bandwagon. Such attention for the segment is set to increase by the day as it assumes a critical mass in influencing the development agenda of the nation.

So is the absorption by the community radio segment increasing as it not only consolidates, but expands; not only looks at its short-term self-interests, but also at long-term common interests; not only reflects ground realities, but also leads from the front; and not only bonds better, but also grows up together.

These and other emerging stories will be captured in due course by future compendiums and other means as well, particularly community radio itself. Till then, I hope you find this edition useful.

I would also like to take the opportunity to thank Ms Supriya Sahu, Joint Secretary at the Ministry of Information & Broadcasting, for her vision which was instrumental in shaping this edition of the compendium. The Community Radio cell at the Ministry too has been a great source of support. And finally the team at OneWorld and the designers deserve the credit for bringing out this edition under challenging time constraints. We hope this edition of the compendium serves its intended purpose of being utilitarian yet aesthetic reference material for all community radio stakeholders.

Rajiv Tikoo is Director, OneWorld Foundation India.

Bol Hyderabad | ANDHRA PRADESH

90.4 MHz

The Community Radio Station was launched on August 15, 2011 as a campus radio station to provide young people and the larger community around the University with a platform to voice their perspectives, aspirations while being a reflection of the local culture and language(s).

Thematic Focus

Youth, music, education, information

Signature Programmes

Raaga the Voice Hunt, a music talent hunt programme. Community connect, a programme that provides a platform for the listeners to know about the work being done by the various NGOs in and around the city of Hyderabad.

Gender Bender, a chat based show created for women and by women which looks at the roles women play in the various walks of society today.

Saptaswara, a classical music programme, a fusion of both Carnatic and Hindustani traditions and Sheher ke Mashoor Adde, a programme on the lines of 'discovery along the road' with interesting anecdotes about various prominent locations in Hyderabad.

Core Team

One Station Coordinator and two faculty co-ordinators collaborate with the Station In-charge and the student community to run the radio station.

CRMC Members

Two faculty co-ordinators and the station in-charge are involved in the day-to-day functioning of the radio station. A radio Advisory Council consisting of students, faculty and community members provides advisory support to the management.

The Abid Ali Khan Educational Trust is dedicated to the development and growth of the community in all fields of human endeavour – cultural, social, economic, academic, moral, national and spiritual of the community. It has been serving the community for over 61 years. The trust realises the potential that Community Radio offers to meet its objective of widening the services of the trust. This has been the main driving force behind constituting a Community Radio Station.

To this end, the Community Radio has encouraged participation from the community inviting ideas for discussion among the community members, the radio station volunteers, its staff and management. The radio station has had an encouraging impact on the community. Local doctors have acknowledged an increase in the number of people coming for TB diagnosis as a result of the programmes they have heard over Deccan Radio on the subject.

The main focus of Radio Ala is to uplift the age old culture and traditions in this region of the east Godavari. Radio Ala Community Radio Station was set up to provide information to the fishing folk, weavers and other marginalised communities living along the coastal belt and elevate their all round development.

Before Radio Ala was set up, these communities were limited by their access to information of use to their daily lives or their aspirations or information that could be of cultural relevance to them.

Thematic focus

Radio Ala strives to provide for intellectual growth via innovative and thought provoking educational programmes for the younger generation which caters to the common masses as well; besides guiding the public about various health hazards and providing medical solutions. Keeping in view the constant occurrences of depressions in the Bay of Bengal every now and then in recent times, Radio Ala warns the fishing community of the changing tides.

Signature Programme

Good Morning Kakinada is one of the most entertaining and fascinating programme at Radio Ala. In this show, information like market rates, bullion and all other matters are covered which is useful for the community.

Innovations in Format

Innovative guidance and cooperation with the fishing community in various ways has been developed. The government cooperation and assistance has been a major factor.

The community media initiative started in 1997 and was founded on the principle that media has always treated the rural people, especially women from marginalised sections, as consumers, and not producers. Radio Sangham is a media of the people, for the people, by the people as the means to respond to their marginalisation.

Thematic Focus

The areas of focus for Sangham Radio are women and biodiversity, women and ecological agriculture, women and land ownership, seed sovereignty and women, food sovereignty and women, millets and their cuisines, ecological enterprises of rural women, healthcare and medicinal plants, herbal care for animal diseases, making children's education relevant to rural milieu, violence against women; legal education for women, culture and language.

Signature Programmes

Our Farming, Our Crops; Our Language & Its Unique Nuances; Our Folk Culture; Our Environment; Our Food, Our Cuisine; Balanandam.

Innovations in Format

It is a community media programme in which grassroots communities work together to discuss their issues and use their own technical capabilities to tell their stories in their own voices and language.

Jnan Taranga | ASSAM

90.4 MHz

Considering that media has remained a one-way medium of communication, the Krishna Kanta Handiqui State Open University (KKHSOU) took the first initiative to launch the first Community Radio service of the region with the motto of providing voice to the voiceless and christened it as Jnan Taranga.

Thematic Focus

The broadcast content of Jnan Taranga mainly consists of community based programmes. Subjects like health, sports, career, science; women issues, Gandhian way of life, gender issues, urbanisation, environmental issues, children, agriculture, horticulture, etc. are dealt within the Community Radio programmes.

Signature Programmes

'Eklavya' is a popular programme of Jnan Taranga which comprises of discussions with prominent personalities on burning issues of the state or country. It is aired by AIR Guwahati and Dibrugarh simultaneously. An hour live phone-in programme 'Manar Khabar' is a phone-in programme.

Innovation in Format

The Community Radio service has always attempted to promote scientific temperament of the local people. It has a regular programme on science named 'Bigyan Barta'. Positive news, success stories and current affairs are included in the programme 'Sampratiki'.

Likewise, a serial on Gandhiji's 'My Experiments with Truth', as well as radio transcription on some acclaimed works of eminent writers are broadcast in the programmes.

The community in the premises of the Guwahati University and the communities living around the university campus have been neglected by the existing media, most usually in the hands of big media houses.

Besides this, there have been frequent conflicts between the university community and surrounding communities. A reason for this was the lack of any meaningful communication that would bind the population in the university and the communities.

Hence, it was a long felt need that a Community Radio Station could be an appropriate method to bridge this gap. This is how the idea of Radio Luit came about.

Thematic Focus

Radio Luit focuses on stimulating community members to participate actively in production and broadcasting programmes. The focus is to make a healthy and positive impact on their personal and social lives.

Signature Programme

Mukoli Sora, the open platform, is a signature programme of Radio Luit, which is broadcast live every day from 7 to 8 p.m. Apart from that the Counselling Hour is another significant programme which is broadcast live three days a week from 5-10 pm to 6-00 pm.

CRMC Members

The overall control of the station lies with the management committee consisting of 18 members, eight of whom are from the community and the remaining 10 from the university. This includes the University Vice Chancellor who is also the chairman of the CRMC. Besides, the Director of IDOL, Gauhati University is the Station Director as well as the convenor.

Radio Snehi | BIHAR

90.4 MHz

Radio Snehi's parent NGO, Snehi, was already running many development based programmes in the community. When it decided to address social issues through providing information as the marginalised population in the communities it served did not get their rights and were unaware about the different government policies. This thinking led to begin a Community Radio Station.

Thematic Focus

Motivate people to improve their lives, thoughts and action.

Signature Programmes

Krishi Choupal, a programme on agriculture, farming and animal husbandry has been the Community Radio's established signature programmes. A new programme, Dopahariya Ke Khayals, was introduced when 23 children died following their mid-day meal in a government school of Gandaman. The government seemed helpless, unable to control the mayhem. The problem got compounded when some miscreants poisoned drinking water sources in schools to create further havoc.

Innovations in Format

Radio Snehi is doing a programme called 'Topper's Club' in which the 3 top students from 3 different High Schools participate to speak on a topic of their choice.

Neotech CR | CHHATTISGARH

90.4 MHz

The initiative for a Community Radio came from a visit to Maharashtra and Madhya Pradesh where it was observed that Community Radio had achieved a lot among impoverished people. The team saw how communities served by the Community Radio felt more empowered with information concerning their health, culture and livelihoods. The team also saw that the community members knew of government schemes through radio and were aware of their rights.

It was also realised that Community Radio gave a new lease of life to folk music which was on the verge of extinction. In the background of lessons learnt from Maharashtra, it was felt that Neotech Community Radio could provide wholesome programmes to entertain and enrich the lives of the people it served.

Thematic Focus

Motivate the Community to improve their lives, thoughts and actions through infotainment.

Signature Programmes

Apna Radio was set up primarily as a campus radio for the students of the different courses of the prestigious Indian Institute of Mass Communication (IIMC) in New Delhi.

IIMC offers courses in various streams of journalism, including radio journalism and it was felt that students of radio journalism could benefit from a radio station on the campus.

Since 2013, the Community Radio has widened its objective and now, Apna Radio endeavours to become the voice of the community around.

Thematic Focus

Opening its gates, Apna Radio involves not only students of IIMC, but all sections of the community to participate in its programmes.

Signature Programme

Muje Kuchh Kehna Hai – where everybody can express his and her views on various subjects concerning the society as a whole.

Innovations in Format

The new programming has been re-designed to blend the desk scripts with content gathered from the community.

Apna Radio now offers programmes on all the major areas of human activity with enhanced participation of the general public. The radio has benefited from the services of an experienced radio programmer. This has helped produce programmes for up to two hours daily which is also repeated.

A survey of the surrounding area is conducted from time to time by the faculty and the students of JIMS with the purpose of identifying the classification and needs of the people living in the neighbourhood.

The survey showed that most of people living around the JIMS campus were residents of JJ colonies, slums, semi-urban and lower income group people who needed to be told about their rights, duties, social and economic development, as well as about opportunities available to increase their source of income.

This helped realise the idea of Community Radio as a tool to empower the people in the community. JIMS CR has been successfully working in this direction over the last eight years.

Thematic Focus

Social, Economic, Education and health issues.

Signature Programmes

Community ki Aawaz, Dhanak, Meri Abhilasha, Jiivan hai Anmol, Nai Dishayen, Dadi maa ke nuskhe.

Innovations in Format

Radio Jamia is the first Community Radio in and around Jamia Millia Islamia near the bank of the Yamuna and close to the Okhla Industrial Area. The Community Radio Station is in the vicinity of industries, several educational institutions and several villages. Having this background Radio Jamia was conceived to provide a platform for the diverse community of the area and serve it by involving the members of the community. The administration of Jamia Millia Islamia felt that a Community Radio Station needed to be established in the campus to cater to the student community and the general community of the area and got a license to run a station on the campus.

Thematic Focus

To improve the lives and thoughts of the target audience through infotainment

Signature Programmes

Yeh Jaanna Zaroori Hai

JIMS is a not-for-profit educational institution wedded to the cause of community development and empowerment. As an educational institution offering its students courses in mass communications, the organisation realised that a radio station could help impart necessary skill to its pupils.

In the same breath, as an organisation, keen to serve the community, JIMS felt that a radio station on the campus could also serve the needs of the community. This gave birth to the idea of Radio JIMS.

Radio JIMS was established to impart knowledge and information related to education, health, environment, social, cultural and local issues and to provide a platform for dialogue and discussion amongst the community members, students and faculty.

Thematic Focus

Women empowerment, health, spirituality, legal issues and career counselling.

Signature Programmes

Mansha, Bat Pate Ki, JeevanDisha, Legal Mantra, Aatmchintan

Innovations in Format

Guruvani has been inspired by the huge success of campus radios around the world and in less than two years since Guruvani Community Radio began broadcasting, the Community Radio has moved in providing practical and meaningful education and training to its students.

Besides training the students on handling the equipment in the studio, the Community Radio has also provided students the opportunity of producing and airing their own programmes. The Community Radio has thus become a platform for the students to communicate about their concerns and challenges.

The radio station has experienced the joys and sorrows of nurturing an interest in an unknown territory, stirring an interest among its student community and inviting queries and addressing doubts over a range of issues, notably their careers and the university courses.

The station is being run on the combined effort of professionals, students, interns and regular volunteers from the campus.

Thematic Focus

Our thematic focus is based on various topics including career advice, literature and mythology, philosophy, education, health, environment, education, women empowerment and social awareness.

Signature programmes

Guruvani welcome and introductory jingle and Gujarat University anthem

Core team

Dinesh Goswami, Dilip Dave, Shyam Barot, Chauhan Chirag.

Micavaani | GUJARAT

90.4 MHz

Micavaani was set up in 2005 as an endeavour of the Mudra Institute of Communication (MICA) to positively impact the community it resides in.

It was a way for the institute to give back to the community that had nourished the institute in myriads of ways since its inception.

Micavaani has ensured that the voice of the community always remains the voice of the Radio Station, and this is reflected across all aspects of content, show formats, timing, etc.

Realising the needs of the community, Micavaani has been focused on issues like education, health and sanitation as information on these issues have a direct impact on the lives of the people in the communities.

Thematic Focus

Education, sanitation, health and child marriage

Signature Programmes

Tamaari Vaat is a show wherein people decide a topic that is of importance to them. An example is where different stakeholders are asked for their comments on the issue of girls' education, considering that girls are not able to study beyond Class 8 because the village school has no provision for further education.

Innovations in Format

Introduced opinion-based programming where viewers could call in simultaneously and give their opinions on the topic, which would be included on the LIVE show. Using quizzes as a tool to ensure listeners' attention and ensuring participation by incentivising correct answers.

Core Team

Akanksha Mittal, Jayati Grover, Monica Bapna, Neha Goel, Neelabh Mallick, Saumya Agrawal, Adrija Dhoundhiyal, Darshan Shah, Komal Goyal, Nupur Agarwal and Surabhi Anand.

The Community Radio Station was set up in the wake of the Gujarat earthquake in the year 2000, to act as a medium of communication and as a source of information and education on social issues. The radio presents the voices of women from informal communities and also acts as a training centre to support the emergence of other such community radio initiatives.

Thematic Focus

Health, Education, Folk Music, Traditional Food, Storytelling, Employment and Livelihoods, Agriculture, Traditional Medicines, Animal husbandry, Nursery, and awareness generation on Government Schemes.

Signature Programmes

There are seven signature programmes broadcast by this community radio station. Saptrangi, Vadhmana, Rudu Upvan, Vadlo Bole Che, Killol, Rudino Radio, SatvikJivan, Aakashmare Aambhanuche.

Innovations in Format

The radio station runs phone-in programmes so that listeners can personally share their views by calling in at the studio and participating in the phone-out sessions where the announcers call listeners to hear their views and feedback. There is also a 'live classroom' to aid students in learning. Programmes are broadcast focusing on various social, economic and political issues of women from the informal sector.

Saiyere Jo Radio | GUJARAT

90.4 MHz

KMVS has been working with radio for a long time, even much before Community Radio Stations began in India. In 1998, Ujjas Radio was started with Akasvane, providing development programmes for broadcast.

The need to start a Community Radio Station was strongly felt so that the issues of the community can be put in the public space when the Community Radio policy was announced. It was also felt that Community Radio can become a medium for developmental issues and thus it can be controlled and owned by the community.

Thematic Focus

The focus is on the local governance, health, environment, land and livelihood, new and relevant information on agriculture, education and issues concerning women and children. Besides, the radio also stresses on art and culture.

Signature Programmes

Soor sangeet jo, Saiyerre jee gaal, patti pen, panjo karyakram, Khaso sasaan

Innovations in Format

A special committee of women is responsible for the content ideation and identifying issues that should be aired through Community Radio. Also, many women groups visit the studio and raise their concerns through a special segment. At the field level, there is a group of 30 volunteers, 12 are very active and do recordings, finalise content and take feedback.

When the government of Haryana decided to stop funding NGOs, SMART decided to apply for a radio license and develop an entity for the community that could sustain itself and promote the voice of the community. The idea of a Community Radio was not even a part of the popular imagination in Mewat, where the local population is caught in a deceptive web of retrograde traditions and customs. Yet, following constant interaction, SMART's credibility and the trust of the people helped set up Radio Mewat to give a voice to the community and also raise some pertinent issues of information dissemination and access.

Thematic Focus

Development, financial inclusion, agriculture, health, sanitation, hygiene, women empowerment, local self governance, education

Signature Programmes

Hamaro gaon kaiso hoi?, Hamara Swasth Hamare Haath, Jaano Grahak Jano, Faayede Ki Baat, Hello Saheli

Innovatons in Format

Radio Mewat has recently launched the consumer helpline. All calls are recorded to produce a live program of 30 minutes. Another programme, 'Hello Saheli', is for girls and women and it includes both a recorded and a live segment.

Core Team

The station is being run by the community members, who are full time employees. Radio Mewat has 10 full time reporters and a few volunteers and one station manager.

Bhabra, 75 kms away from Jhabua district in the state of Madhya Pradesh, is a tribal block dominated by the Bhil tribe. The community had no access to modern means of communication in their own dialects before the establishment of the Community Radio Station. This was thought of as an impediment to the community's development.

With this lack of a communication platform, it was decided to establish a Community Radio Station. It was thought that once established, a Community Radio Station could bring about social change and help the community preserve its culture while also simultaneously, promote education among its listeners.

Thematic Focus

Awareness raising, culture, health, education and entertainment.

Signature Programmes

Kheti Kisani, Katha Kahani Pratibha Vanlogo Se Bhet Varta, Aaps Ki Baat.

Innovations in Format

A innovative format was made out to cover Bhgoriya – the principal festival of the Bhils of Jhabua preceding the festival of colors that gave young people to elope with the partners of their choice. The radio programme covers the worship of the God of Dance, Bahgoradev during this festival.

People of rural Bundelkhand have little access to a communication platform apart from government or private media. As a leading civil society organisation dedicated to sustainable development of the region, Development Alternatives (DA) realised the challenge of communication for the region's development.

Radio Bundelkhand was thus established with the belief that Community Radio is a good platform for sustainable and interactive dialogue for the communities of the region.

Thematic Focus

Climate change, agriculture, empowerment, health, nutrition and hygiene and governance.

Signature Programmes

Shubhkal, Khet Khaliyaan se, Mujhe Haq Hai, Rasoi se sehat ka Safar, Hamari Choupal Main, Hello Saheli and Baate Nanhe Dillo ki, Hum Honge Kaamyaab, Meri Bundeli Mere Geet etc.

Innovations in Format

Competition and infotainment based radio formats like 'Rural Reality Show' on community radio, Zaika Bundelkhand ka, Bundeli Idol was tested by Radio Bundelkhand.

Core Team

All the radio programmes are developed by the team of radio reporters who are from the community. These programmes are developed under the guidance of the Production Manager.

CRMC Members

A 26 member management committee includes representatives of villages like Sarpanch, ANM and listeners besides government department and research organisation functionaries, media, social activists and Development Alternatives.

The Korku community living in the bordering areas of Maharashtra has barely any access to modern means of communication like newspapers, radio or television. The Community Radio Station was started to broadcast programmes in their own language for the benefit of these communities. This also confirms with the vision of creating a just and humane society with equal access to knowledge, power, justice, rights and decision-making.

The infrastructure for the station was developed by the Tribal Welfare Department. The radio station has also partnered with other organisations like Vanya, Swaraj, UNFPA, and government departments. The Community Radio seeks cooperation from different government departments to sustain it and achieve 12 hours of broadcasting daily.

Thematic Focus

Motivate and make the community aware of the need to improve their lives, thoughts and actions through local dialect and creating programmes on agriculture, education, and general knowledge.

Pravara KVK a small institute, was unable to reach a larger population due to its limited human and financial resources. The institute initially adopted the group approach to cover the maximum number of people with its activities. However, technology-related challenges and the need for information support led the KVK to explore how Community Radio could be an initiative to bridge the communication gap along with Information Communication Technologies (ICT).

Thematic Focus

Agriculture, health, education, rural development and local culture.

Signature Programmes

The KVK has developed special signature programmes related to agriculture and rural development keeping in view the local culture.

Innovations in Format

Talks with scientists of KVK on emerging problems and talks with the successful agripreneurs, hero of the week, discussions on the bunds of farms, a quizz for a correct answer are popular formats.

Core Team

Every person working in the Radio Station is now an expert in the production of content related to various issues of the community. Besides this our other staffs are also helping this team for production of good quality programmes.

In 2005-06 the Mumbai University thought that radio can be a very useful medium to bring about change in the minds of people, not only about education but also about the various other aspects of community. Hence, it would be a win-win situation as the Community Radio Station would serve as an outreach activity for the people with involvement from the educational system as well as NGOs and community members. It was thought that the radio could be utilized more effectively to empower members of the society, especially marginalized women and students.

Thematic Focus

Involvement of community members and provide them with a multi dynamic platform.

Signature Programmes

Maths on Radio

Innovations in Format

Radio MGIRI | MAHARASHTRA

90.4 MHz

The Mahatma Gandhi Institute for Rural Industrialisation at Wardha is surrounded by communities with low literacy rates and with only a small proportion of people with any formal education. A number of people do not have access to means of communication like newspapers and the non-print media like television and radio. There remains a gap in the communication needs of the people.

Among all the channels, around 90 per cent are commercial – only Doordarshan and AIR have a substantial contribution to development needs of their audience. However, only 15 per cent of the population access Doordarshan and radio is the only accessible medium in the entire working environment, travelling, on the farms and even in the kitchen.

It is in this backdrop that the MGIRI thought of starting a Community Radio Station.

Thematic Focus

Rural entrepreneurship; agriculture; health; sanitation; hygiene; women empowerment and education.

Snehalaya, the parent NGO that promoted Radio Nagar, felt the need to have an audio media through which the organisation could reach more people in its working area. The media persons associated with Snehalaya felt that the print media and other mediums were not enough to reach a larger number of people. It was felt that a Community Radio Station would help create more awareness in this direction while simultaneously giving a voice to the voiceless.

The Community Radio has led to talented young people from various fields being provided an opportunity to perform on the radio shows – in the process, creating awareness about the working of the parent NGO while also including other sections of the society in the production of content and programmes.

Thematic Focus

Women rights, health and nutrition, socio-economic, educational, cultural, legal issues, local talent conservation.

Signature Programme

Nagari Misal

Core Team

A team of producers competent in different fields like music, literature, drama, medicine and social work, design and produce the programmes.

CRMC Members

A management committee consisting of some members from the board of directors of our parent NGO, along with some staff members of Radio Nagar has been constituted for the smooth running of the Station.

All India Radio would broadcast talks by KVK experts that would get many phone calls by farmers. This was an indication of the need felt by farmers for information over radio being just a call away. It encouraged the organisation to think of a Community Radio Station for the KVK as radio is an accessible medium for transferring agricultural knowledge to farmers.

Today the Community Radio Station provides its listeners with a good package of information presented in creative formats that capture the interest of the listeners, In doing so, it has introduced scientific farming practices.

Thematic Focus

Agriculture and allied subjects

Signature Programmes

Arogyadhan, Baliraja tujiachsathi, Krishisandesh, Tantra shetiche, Yashogatha

The Suvide Foundation, a local NGO involved in social work, education, women and child welfare and agriculture at the grassroots has for long focused on disseminating information and involving the community by giving it a platform to perform. Setting up a Community Radio Station was therefore, a logical off-shoot of its work with the help of Government of India and the ATMA scheme of the Ministry of Agriculture. It was felt that a Community Radio Station should be established in the campus as it would largely benefit the community.

Thematic Focus

Dissemination of agriculture information and to involve the community for its development.

Signature Programmes

Disha dishana rutu rutuna nahi ethe ant ho and Shethacha Bandhawar

Yerala Projects Society (YPS) has a history of working to bring the people it worked among into the mainstream of development. While implementing various projects and handling different problems of the community, it was realised that the reach had been limited. The area had hardly any source of communication. Hence, as an NGO, YPS saw the urge to communicate with people at large and to ensure their valuable involvement in the development process.

Thematic Focus

The programmes prepared and aired are thematically focused on agriculture. The project area has been suffering from severe drought. The area has a majority of farmers.

Signature Programmes

Krushi Varta, a programme broadcast happenings in the area about agriculture and allied activities.

Innovation in Format

Vividha, the programme includes literature, culture, art, sports, science, education, and entertainment. The way of presentation has changed to make it more colourful.

Radio Kissan's coverage area is linked with many specific problems. The river Dhanua, a no-embankment tributary of the Mahanadi River system, causes flash floods every year and washes away the rice crop which is the only life line of the community. Being a coastal zone, coastal storms affect the betel vine crop regularly. The Community Radio is working with the community to cover such livelihood challenges.

The Community Radio strives to identify livelihood problems, to prepare solutions through consultation with the community and administrative functionaries and increase collective preparedness for combating the affects of natural disasters.

Thematic Focus

Agriculture, entrepreneurship, livelihood security

Signature Programmes

Asa Chasa Kariba (Let us farm); Krushak Bandhu Namaskar; Ama Gosthi Ama Pragati (Our group and our success); Ame Apanka Sathire (We are with you).

Kandhmal, a tribal district in Western Odisha has been far from the media glare – except when things have gone terribly wrong. The local population has had little access to information regarding their own needs. This is why Community Radio Muskan 90.4 MHz has come to become the only active medium of interaction for the community.

With ATMA funding the initial infrastructure development and procurement of equipment, the radio station airs programmes for all ages from the entire spectrum of Kandhmal's population. Programmes are produced with the help of the local experts, social workers, health workers, administrators and experienced faculties and the radio is sustained by revenue coming in the form of advertisements from the local community and government agencies.

Thematic Focus

To make people aware of the various government schemes.

Signature Programmes

Bhakti Sagar, a programme on spiritual talks; Muskan Appeal, Public Awareness messages; Ajira Nari, Women Empowerment, Girl Education, Problems, Health Tips, Stories of successful women; Krusi O Krusaka, a farmer development programme covering issues concerning agriculture, farming, small industrial project and interviewing experts; Ama Swastya, a health-related program.

Innovations in Format

The district of Jagatsinghpur is known for the migration of labourers and for natural disasters like the super cyclone of 1999 and Phailin in 2013. Sourabha, an NGO has extensive experience of working with the communities and is aware of the needs of the communities it works with. The lack of information and awareness among young people in the community has been a long-standing concern and it was felt that this could be countered with a Community Radio Station. This led to Sourabha applying for a Community Radio licence.

Radio Sanskar began with its initial infrastructure procured with assistance from the government's extension reform programme, ATMA. Revenue for sustaining the Radio Station comes in the form of advertisements from the local community and government agencies.

Thematic Focus

Agriculture and rural development, awareness of government schemes, climate related bulletins

Signature Programmes

Avtar Radio Seechewal | PUNJAB

90.4 MHz

Avtar Radio's belief is that human beings and nature are interconnected and there is a deep relationship between them. The radio management makes efforts to maintain this relationship through its programmes, all of which are environment based. Avtar Radio began broadcasting in the middle of 2012.

Thematic focus

The Community Radio's main focus is the environment. This focus translates into radio content as programmes on the internal environment and programmes on the external environment.

The programmes on internal environment engage in talk on norms, values, beliefs and the communication gap between humans and nature. The radio puts emphasis on efforts towards bridging this gap.

Likewise, programmes on external environment are informed through talk on all kinds of pollution, healthcare, agriculture and literature.

Signature Programmes

Pinda cho Pind, Batan Doade Diyan, Radio Nama, Kudrat Vaani and Sahit Studio

Innovations in Format

Our radio station is the first community radio of Punjab that is broadcasted from village. Most of the programmes are live. Very few programmes are recorded.

All India Radio's Alwar station mostly relays programmes from Vividh Bharti, Mumbai and Jaipur and very few of its programmes are produced locally. The Community Radio Station established by the IET Group of Institutions is situated in the Matsya Industrial Area on the outskirts of the city. The institutions and industries in the area have student and staff hailing from either nearby villages or from other cities.

Alwar Ki Awaz was conceived to give a platform to the diverse population of the area and serve it by involving members of the community. It was felt that a Community Radio Station should be established on the campus as it would largely benefit the community as a whole and voice the voices of the unheard.

Thematic Focus

Motivate the Community to improve their lives, thoughts and actions through infotainment.

Signature Programme

Radio Tilonia | RAJASTHAN

90.4 MHz

During a visit to the Barefoot College, Tilonia, in 2004, the senior journalist, late Ajit Bhattacharya, held discussions to explore possibilities of working in the area of Community Radio since it has an on-going dialogue with poorest of the poor in rural communities.

Earlier on, All India Radio, Jaipur had held a two-day workshop in Tilonia. Discussions were held then to work for a Community Radio keeping in mind the longstanding rapport with rural communities.

These initiatives kick-started the efforts for Barefoot College to apply for a license for Community Radio. It was felt that Barefoot College would immensely benefit from a Community Radio as the radio would help communicate with the community around the institution.

Thematic Focus

Labour, women, village governance, youth, old age pension, children, folk music and stories

The focus is also on MGNREGA, labour cards, RIT and RTH applications, rural problems and their solution, pension, agriculture and seed distribution.

The M Kumarasamy Educational Trust realised that the local community needs were unfulfilled due to lack of opportunities. There was a paucity of information for the local community, especially its youth, of the opportunities that could help shape their lives for the better.

With this view, the trust thought of developing the multi talented students along with local communities by spreading valuable information and knowledge through a powerful, easy and affordable mode of communication. The "K" Community Radio Station was thus established on the campus with a view to benefit students and people from the local community. While the students have learnt of the details of how to make their own programmes, they have also got the important lesson on understanding the needs of the community and being able to express it in a dignified manner.

Thematic Focus

Education, health, environmental awareness

Signature Programmes

With the belief that Community Radio can be used to address the community development needs by facilitating cross learning and through information sharing, Kalanjiam Samuga Vanoli was established as a partnership between UNDP and DHAN Foundation to serve communities in the tsunami-ravaged Nagapattinam district which is prone to multiple hazards including floods, cyclone, drought and tsunamis. It was promoted with a belief that a community-run radio would give people a voice.

Kalanjiam Community Radio Station is run by trained women volunteers who facilitate community volunteers in the field and also engage in building their capacities in production skills in the areas of voice recording for producing field programmes from villages.

The Community Radio Station was conceived to aid in promotion and preservation of local wisdom, traditional knowledge and skills by encouraging communities to prepare programmes and to create a platform for local youth and students.

Periyar CR | TAMIL NADU

90.4 MHz

Periyar CR is grounded in the belief of empowering the local community, which is for the most part impoverished and illiterate. This is achieved by helping them make programmes to strengthen the social impact of community activity to combat poverty, exclusion and voicelessness, including women's health education and so on.

The government introduced the PURA scheme – (Providing Urban amenities in Rural Areas) for the social development of poor people and Periyar PURA is a practical PURA model. The Periyar PURA scheme encompasses 58 villages of Thanjavur district and eight villages of Pudukkottai district. These villages encircle the institution at a radial distance of 22 kms. Periyar CR is the communication network between the rural people of the PURA village and Periyar Maniammai University.

After seven years of publishing Nilgiri Seemai Sudhi (a privately circulated community newsletter) the culture and people team at Keystone Foundation realised their limitation of not being able to reach out to larger sections of people of Kotagiri and The Nilgiris.

The Keystone Foundation attaches immense importance to reaching out to the community in the region and with the limited results of a printed publication, the team thought of exploring other mediums of communication.

The idea of setting up a Community Radio in Kotagiri thus came about. The idea was to have a communication vehicle that can reinstate the cultural identities of the indigenous communities and integrate them with the mainstream communities through effective communication and information. Community Radio Kotagiri has provided a suitable platform to make this a reality in a partnership with the communities the Keystone Foundation works amongst.

Rathinavani CR | TAMIL NADU

90.8 MHz

The Rathinam Group is a philanthropic organisation dedicated to the cause of community and education. The group ventured into the Community Radio arena to aid, assist and enhance the prospects of education, social responsibility and entertainment with special emphasis on the student community in the region.

The focal attention of Rathinavani CRS is to impart social, psychological and educational awareness to the local community, especially the students community covered by its radio programmes. This is made possible with the help of students and other staff in and around the campus pitching in to make programmes for the radio station. Besides these, there is also a range of programmes for labourers, women and children.

District Lalitpur is part of integrated programmes of UNICEF. It was selected for setting up a Community Radio as it is considered a neglected area of Uttar Pradesh, lacking in facilities mainly of health and education.

Given the lack of awareness among people in the community served by the parent NGO of Lalit Lokvani, a Community Radio Station was thought of as a good intervention for communicating and interacting with the community on issues like child rights, women's health and empowerment.

The Community Radio Station was made possible with the efforts of partners who also helped the station build the capacity of its own people to produce relevant programmes.

Thematic Focus

Child right, empowerment, village development, livelihood and social inclusion.

The community in the service area of Radio Noida need a platform to express their creativity and it has been realised that young people in the area have for long wanted to have a forum to express themselves and share their views. Women, particularly from the marginalised groups also needed such a forum. It was thought that this would be possible by helping them produce and broadcast their own programmes. Radio Noida promises to provide an opportunity to the local communities to express themselves, share their views and particularly empower women, youth and marginalised groups to take part in local self governance.

Thematic Focus

Health, education, culture and women empowerment

Signature Programmes

Udaan Zindagi ki, Parivartan, Jana Kahan Hai, Panchayat, Baal Panchayat, Sanjeevni, ManavkaVikas / Dharti meri Dharti and Zindagi ke Jharokon Se

Innovations in Format

90.8 MHz

There is no radio station in Azamgarh district – whether commercial, privately run, or even a local station of All India Radio. There was no other medium to serve as a platform for the common people and the absence of any such medium only served to exaggerate the levels of disempowerment, especially in the case of women in the communities around Anjaan Shaheed. The Voice of Azamgarh Community Radio was set up in light of this paucity of radio communication in the surrounding area.

Thematic Focus

Voice of Azamgarh focuses on education, raising awareness, regional culture and women empowerment through its programmes.

Signature Programmes

Aapke Beech, Udaan, Parvaaz, Jano Aur Samjho, Aaj Ki Pathshala and serial Zindagi tujhe laut ke aaana hai (based on TB unmulan karyakram – under Project Akshay).

Innovations in Format

A 'Madhari' and his 'Jamura' (a pair of street-performers) are the stock characters for a radio programme series that goes under the title Zindagi Laut Ke Aana. The characters relate with the form of popular street entertainment and the stock characters are useful in reinforcing the messages for tuberculosis control that the programme aims at.

Kumaon Vani | UTTARAKHAND

90.4 MHz

Kumaon Vani was set up by TERI in 2010 in the town of Mukteshwar in Nainital. While working with the local farming community, The Energy and Resources Institute (TERI) realised that the lack of access to information was a big roadblock in promoting sustainable development in this mountainous region. The people needed to know how they could improve the quality of their lives while continuing to live in harmony with the environment around them. The messages for this needed to be communicated to the people and radio had the potential of being a good medium. Thus emerged the idea of setting up Kumaon Vani.

Thematic Focus

Sustainable agriculture, education and healthcare, Kumaoni music, local governance.

Signature Programmes

Baazar laye Bouchhar (to promote better marketing of agricultural produce), Swastha Kumaon (on health-related issues and traditional knowledge of Kumaon), and English Vinglish (English tutorials for children).

The roots of Henvalvani Community Radio, Chamba, in Tehri district in Uttarakhand, were laid by a group of rural youth who came together in an attempt to find a distinct voice of their own. The team went through radio training sessions to learn the basics of recording, editing and various radio programming skills with the goal to focus on highlighting the needs of their local communities. After twelve years of groundwork, the station finally got its broadcasting license in 2012 and began broadcasting.

Thematic Focus

Traditional practices, environmental history, people's movements in the valley, local talents, stories of migration to the cities, emerging employment opportunities for young people, local governance etc.

Signature Programmes

91.2 MHz

NSHM Institute of Media and Communication, a Kolkata-based private media and communications institution launched its Community Radio on Christmas Day (December 25, 2013). The Radio Station is called 91.2 Y FM, NSHM Community Radio.

Though the station is just over two months old, it has a repository of programme content built over the period of its preparation for a Community Radio Station since the organization got its Letter of Intent from the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting, New Delhi.

The experience of making over a dozen radio programmes has also helped in exploring the limits of creativity and the content production team has explored and experimented with formats for the programmes it has produced. For example, documentaries and dramas have been combined with an approach to features programmes and the combination seems to have paid off, at-least going by the response to the broadcast of the initial few episodes.

Signature Programmes

Surer Aaksahey, Hello Doctor, Yaar-Kalakar, Mindroom, Nayi Roshni, Dishari, Shruti Shrote, Limelight, Ayiner Chokhey, Kichhu Katha Kichhu Gaan, Srijani, Kalakunj, Vasundhara, Q-Time, Careerscape, Community Kalakar among many other programmes.

Innovations in Format

Docu-features, drama, feature, mix-format etc.

Core Team

Maqsood Alam and Rakesh Bagui

CRMC Members

Buroshiva Dasgupta, Madhupa Bakshi, Jhuma Basak, Rajesh Sisodia, Debanjan Banerjee, Manali Bhattacharya, Anindita Sarkar and Barnali Roy
